

JENNIFER PHARR DAVIS

Adventurer - Author -
Speaker - Entrepreneur

Being struck by lightning. Trudging through a blizzard with one eye frozen shut. Covering 47 miles a day for a month and a half straight on the legendary Appalachian Trail. Hiking 500 miles through the rugged Spanish Pyrenees in her second and third trimesters. Walking 1,100 miles across North Carolina while nursing her newborn son.

Jennifer Pharr Davis knows how to keep going- to persevere, remain adaptable, communicate clearly, rely on a team, take care of herself in extreme environments. And shatter a glass ceiling. She's done it time and again. Let her inspire your group to go farther and accomplish more than they ever thought possible.

“Jennifer Pharr Davis is the Serena Williams of long-distance hiking.
- Baratunde Thurston, PBS”

IMPACT

- Her keynotes leave an indelible mark and motivate attendees to embrace whatever lies ahead.

TESTIMONIALS

“Jennifer took the time to tailor her comments to our financially influenced audience and was engaging, inspiring, and reinforced our strategic initiatives. It is rare to find a speaker who connects so well. Our entire audience's response was overwhelming”

- Marc Mullins, Regions Bank

“Jennifer delivered in a big way. She struck the absolute right tone, was very easy to work with, and tailored her message to fit our group. Her story will resonate loudly with any audience looking for motivation to conquer difficult tasks.”

- John Hasner, Fidelity Investments

Jennifer’s story will touch every emotion and leave you amazed at her strength and perseverance. Her authenticity and genuine spirit make you feel as though you’ve known her forever. The feedback from our audience was tremendous and she left our female leaders inspired and motivated to never doubt the possible.”

- Clarissa Felts, Lowe’s Companies, Inc.
